It's that time of year again where we say goodbye to summer and get ready for winter. It's been a beautiful fall, we couldn't have asked for a better one. We are working hard to wrap up all of our seasonal work before the snow falls. Hopefully you read Corey's top five things to do before winter from October's newsletter and you and your home are prepared for the cold!

What We Are Excited About in November!

OCTOBER 2021 WITH

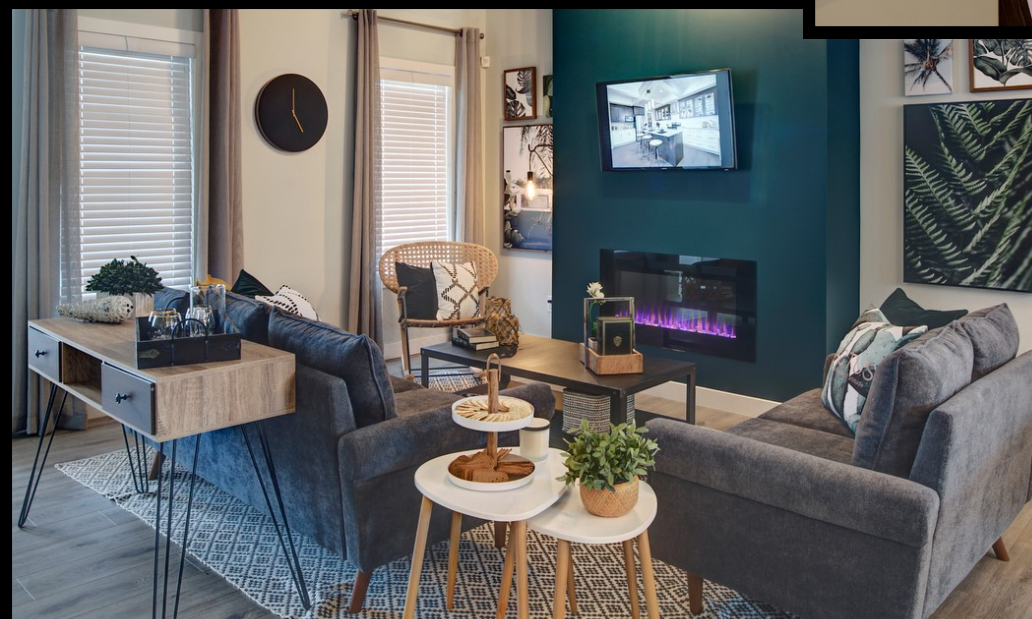

Visiting The Studio

with Kels

Hey Kels, with the cooler weather coming soon we are going to be spending less time on our back deck and more time inside our homes. What do you suggest for easy fall updates?

When it gets colder outside, my go to is to bring out all my throw blankets! They are a great way to add color, texture and warmth to a space. Adding more throw pillows to your living room and bedrooms is also a great way to bring in the comfy vibes to your home. Since we lose the color of nature outside during the winter I love having plants in my home. They are a great way to add the feeling of summer and life to any space in the home.

Our VP Kristin's Top 5 Tips for First Time Home Buyers

1. Talk to the bank. Know your numbers!
2. Define what this home means to you. Is this your forever home or your five year plan?
3. Clearly define your needs vs. wants.
4. Talk to your landlord. This can drastically change your time frame for moving and how much it can cost if you need to break a lease.
5. Be clear, when do you want to move?
